County Cuts Hospital
Debt at Very Start

Editor The Star: I do not feel that your editorial on the liquor question in last night's issue of The Star (December 2) should go unchallenged.

First, we do highly commend you for the position you took while our county was wet in not accepting liquor advertisements. This shows that you recognize the evils of liquor and your willingness to forego considerable revenue rather than endorse its use speaks loudly for your sincerity in the matter. However, the position of the Prohibitionists in the matter is this:

1. To legalize the sale of liquor gives it a certain amount of respectability and creates in the minds of the oncoming generation a feeling that perhaps liquor isn't so bad after all; an attitude that can wreck the lives of our young people. Knowing the evils of liquor we are unalterably opposed to giving any degree of respectability to the liquor industry.

2. It is a well known fact that a large portion of the time of our courts is taken up with crime cases, traffic cases, etc., resulting from the use of alcoholic beverages and that the expense of policing the liquor industry and those who are intoxicated considerably exceeds the revenue received from liquor taxes.

3. You state that we are hypocritical in accepting tainted money for our schools. The fact that liquor taxes are earmarked for our schools is a whitewash. If this money was channeled into the expense of policing the liquor industry and the general revenue funds that are now used for this purpose were given to the schools our school system would be much better off.

We trust that you are not opening the way for another liquor election in Hempstead county. If you are, we are ready for the fight. You probably noticed that Randolph county just voted dry again and is a considerably better margin than three years ago. Yours sincerely
GUY E. BASSE

The word from our Hempstead county hospital project is that it may reach the contract-letting stage some time in January; and I have some notes about the county's share of the financing which ought to encourage all you taxpayers.

The county's $300,000 issue of 2 1/2 per cent callable bonds was sold to W. R. Stephens & Co., Little Rock investment house, at a premium which brought the total proceeds up to $304,852. This is the amount on hand with which to begin construction, plus the amount of the federal grant to come later.

But the county already had an accumulation of hospital tax funds from previous years, amounting to $450,000, and so the opportunity presented itself to cut the debt before it actually began. The whole $500,000 was used to retire this amount of the longest-term bonds — $1,000 each December 1, 1975; $16,000 each due in 1976, 1977; and $17,000 due in 1978.

So the county has $304,852 for hospital construction, but it owes only $250,000 — which is a long step forward at the very beginning of a bond contract.

The bond issue is maintained by a mill tax, which on 10-million valuation should net $300,000 a year — or a safe $250,000.

It should be good news to you when hospital taxpaying time rolls around again that your county is in such an advantageous position.

This Fellow Has Really Gone GI

By DANIEL F. GILMORE

FRANKFURT, Germany, (UP) — A dutiful American GI who guarded two pootons for six cold days and nights because his unit forgot him said today I'd still be there — for a year, two years, if necessary — until relieved.

Raymond L. Cote of Saco, Me., was promoted to private first class on his strong sense of duty, judgment and dependability in sticking to his post.

But his buddies still said he must have had a hole in his head. "Before anyone realized what he had done his first sergeant had listed him as AWOL, and assigned him to K.P. as soon as he returned." The 21-year-old soldier described his watch on the Rhine in an interview today.

Cotton Crop Back in Lap of Congress

By OVID A. MARTIN

WASHINGTON, (AP) — Congress had a controversial cotton crop control program back in its lap today — tossed there for the second time in recent weeks by Secretary of Agriculture Benson.

This time Benson wrote to Rep. Whitton (D-Miss.) disputing the latter's contention that the secretary could allow farmers to plant more cotton in 1954 than they would be permitted to do under a control program Benson announced in October.

Because of a big surplus, Benson proclaimed marketing quotas on the 1954 crop and announced a national planting allotment of 17,910,000 acres — a reduction not about 26 per cent from this year's plantings.

The GOP farm chief said at the time that such a sharp cut would have serious effects on the economy of the South, but added that he was without legal authority to allow a larger acreage. He did state, however, that he would urge Congress to authorize a reasonable increase.

Two weeks ago Whitton told Benson that farm law did give him authority to set a larger allotment. The secretary said he would re-examine the law and the situation. Several other Southern lawmakers publicly agreed with Whitton.

He wrote Whitton yesterday that the law was wrong. Furthermore, Benson said, "widespread publicity" given Whitton's argument had resulted in "misunderstanding" of the secretary's authority.

Benson did agree that farm law gave him authority to boost allotments in case of a national emergency. But there is nothing in the cotton supply and demand situation in this country or abroad, the secretary said, which would justify action under these emergency provisions.

Benson said he could foresee no possible situation that would find this country short of cotton.

Farm Prices Show Decline

LITTLE ROCK, (AP) — The index of prices received by Arkansas farmers declined four points, or 1.4 per cent, from Oct. 15 to Nov. 15, while the index for the nation as a whole dropped only one point.

This was announced today by the Crop Reporting Service, which said a four per cent fall in the food grain index and a two per cent drop in the cotton index were mainly responsible for the decline in Arkansas.

Politics Produces Some Very Good Comics, Why Couldn't Comedians Be Good Politicians

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK, (AP) — Politics always has produced some of the nation's greatest unconscious comedians. But Henry Youngman, "The Comic's Comic," has a new idea.

On the theory that comedians can always beat an amateur, he thinks it's time to bring a few conscious career comedians into government. "The people can't help but be entertained," he said. "And they'll at least get something new to laugh at."

"What I have in mind is that these comedians will be something like the King's jester in the old days. When the regular government jokers — or the appointed diplomats — get their skulls all heated up in debate, you call a 15-minute comic to cool both sides off."

"Any comic who can't make a crowd laugh in 15 minutes is in the wrong business — or maybe needs a couple of pay writers."

Jurist Clark Again Defies State Dept.

FRANKFURT, Germany (UP) — Chief Justice William Clark, unbudging judge of American courts in Germany, scorned a second State Department summons to Washington to be tried and announced defiantly, "I shall remain."

The Princeton, N. J. jurist paraphrased Gen. Douglas McArthur's famous "I shall return" promise after Secretary of State John Foster Dulles notified him, by cable, his services would be terminated in January and called him home for consultations next Monday.

On Nov. 25, the State Department first announced that Clark was being fired as "surplus" in an economy move. Clark, pointing to was cases on my court docket," announced he would stage a sit-down strike in his own court.

Clark, who often has tangled with the U. S. High Commission headed by former Harvard President James Conant, maintained today the State Department is trying to discipline "someone who will not take orders."

Ex-Red Must Recall Night of Terror

By WARREN ROGERS JR.

WASHINGTON, (AP) — Igor Gouzenko, as he pondered repeated bids for his testimony about Red fifth columns in North America, must recall a night of terror in 1945 when he could convince no one that such a thing existed.

The State Department yesterday asked the Canadian government to arrange an interview between Gouzenko and Sen. Jenner (R-Id.) and Robert Horris, chairman and counsel, respectively, of the Senate internal security subcommittee.

Gouzenko has been living in Canada under an alias and with police protection since, as a Russian code clerk at the Soviet Embassy in Ottawa, he exposed a Red spy ring operating in Canada in 1945 with contacts in the United States.

In a note to the Canadian Embassy, the State Department emphasized that Jenner's subcommittee would abide by Canada's decision as to what part of Gouzenko's testimony, if any, could be made public.

Accepted also were Canada's other terms: (1) that the interview must be under Canadian auspices, and (2) that Gouzenko must be willing to risk his police-guarded obscurity by testifying.

Anyway, the diplomats get a few laughs while they are resting their brains during this time out, and maybe when they start arguing, again they'll make more sense because they've got less steam in their heads.

Youngman, who had originated so many jokes that even Milton Berle can't remember them all, feels that staff government comedians would be particularly useful right now in the United Nations and to settle major labor disputes.

"Look how many strikes you might prevent," he said, "if the guys barking at each other across a table would stop and share a belly laugh."

Henn, who says he hasn't bothered to copy his idea, offered to guinea pig the experiment himself and become the first U. S. federal government comedian.

Testament Is Rejected by 22 Pro-Reds

By JAMES MORRISSEY

PANMUNJOM, Korea, (UP) — The 22 American war prisoners who have refused to return home have rejected New Testament and asked instead for Communist newspapers, an Indian spokesman revealed today.

The spokesman said the self-exiled GI's flayed turned down a gift of 22 individually wrapped New Testaments sent to them from the United States.

The snub of Christianity's most sacred writings was revealed after South Korean officers failed for the third straight day to contact home any ROK prisoners. Young Korean officers have talked to 90 prisoners but all elected life under Red rule.

The Indian spokesman said the American prisoners, called pro-Communists by the Reds, asked Indian guards to give them newspapers and books from North Korea instead of New Testaments.

The Testaments were mailed to the prisoners and arrived here about two weeks ago.

Since the American POWs had demanded earlier that undesirable mail not be delivered to them, Indian guards held the Testaments until the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission decided how to handle letters and packages addressed to the Yankees.

The commission, which supervises unrepatriated war prisoners ruled that the Americans had to ask for their mail.

When questioned about the New Testaments, the GI's said they did not want them, the Indian spokesman said.

By JAMES MORRISSEY

PANMUNJOM, Korea (UP) — South Korean explanation officers rushed 30 Communist-infiltrated ROK prisoners through interviews today without winning one back to democracy.

It was so obvious that the prisoners were pro-Communist that the explainers took only half the time used for two previous days of interviews with hard-core South Korean Reds.

"All you could hear was explainers calling, 'next!'" one officer said. "This place is beginning to sound like a barber shop."

With 90 — 25 per cent of Communist-held South Koreans — already processed, the Neutral Nations Repatriation commission approved an Allied request to step up the rate of interview to 40 daily.

The speed up would bring about 300, then expected the explainers to 22 Americans and one British who refused to go home last summer in Operation Big Switch.

American explainers were expected to greet the expatriate GI's with the same indifference shown by ROK officers to pro-Communist South Koreans.

The material to be used by American explainers will be substantially the same as that read by the South Koreans.

Judge Brown Lashes State Boys School

TEXARKANA, (AP) — A circuit judge here yesterday called the Arkansas Boys Industrial School "a shame and disgrace to the state" and declared "it is high time somebody was doing something about it."

Circuit Judge Lyle Brown of Hope made the blistering attack on the school after he sentenced three teenagers—15 to 17 years old—to two years apiece at the institution. The boys were sentenced after breaking into a grade school cafeteria here.

Brown, of the Eighth Judicial District, said in court that "the law says everything practicable shall be done to develop boys morally, intellectually and industrially. But the boys industrial school is falling down on the job."

He said the school originally was designed to teach a trade but "this has not been the practice in the past, even though the taxpayers of this state are paying for the service."

Brown charged that the school in no help either to the boys or the state. "But, unfortunately it is the only institution we have for teenage boys."

One of the youths—a 16-year-old told the court he had been at the school twice and had "walked out" each time. The 17-year-old said he had been sent there three times, and the third boy, 15, said he was on probation from Columbia County.

The judge said that word had come to him that the last way to get a Christmas furlough at the Former State Dept. Official Is Indicted, Congressman Is Linked With Communists

Local Order of Eastern Star Installs Officers

WASHINGTON, (AP) — Val R. Lorwin, a former State Department official, was indicted by a federal grand jury today on charges that he falsified Communist party membership during a loyalty hearing in December, 1950.

The indictment, returned under the false statements statute, accused Lorwin of falsifying a statement under oath at the loyalty hearing that:

1. He never was a Communist Party member.
2. He never carried a Communist Party card.
3. He never held a Communist Party meeting in his home.

At the time of the hearing, Lorwin was chief of the European section, division of International labor, social and health affairs in the State Department.

Body of Child Found by Her Father

MARIANNA, (AP) — The body of 23-month-old Barbara Sue Jones, who apparently wandered away from her home the day before Thanksgiving, was found this morning by her father.

Jimmy Jones and two other men found the child's body, in a heavily wooded section about three miles from her rural home in a remote area of Lee County.

A relative, Jack Stanley, said there were no bruises or other marks on the child's body. He said he thought Barbara Sue died from exposure.

The coroner J. C. Flowers Jr. and Sheriff S. C. Langston will enroute to the scene and could not be reached immediately for comment.

An organized posse of more than 400 officers, volunteers and National Guardsmen searched a square mile area of the remote, swampy forest that surrounded Barham's home for six days before finally giving up the hunt.

Stanley said that some men clearing a section of land near the spot where the body was found brought a dinner to Mr. and Mrs. Jones last night.

Mrs. Jones identified the diaper. Continued on Page Two

Arrival of Ike Signals Start of Conference

By MERRIMAN SMITH

TUCKERS TOWN, Bermuda (UP) — President Eisenhower joined British Prime Minister Winston Churchill and French Premier Joseph Laniel here today for a two-day "Big Three" conference whose first order of business will be how to put Russia back on the road to peace.

The American president was given a reception at the airport that surpassed in enthusiasm any in recent memory, exceeding even that of Britain's own Queen Elizabeth II when she came to this British island last week.

A band played the Star Spangled Banner, a United States Coast Guard ship fired a 21-gun salute and an eager crowd of thousands cheered, cheered and cheered again as Mr. Eisenhower waved and smiled.

In the best of humor, President Eisenhower strode forward to meet Churchill and greeted him with, "It is very good to see you again, Sir Winston." He greeted British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden standing in back of Churchill, and shook hands with Laniel.

At the request of the photographers, the President pulled Churchill to his side and they posed with Laniel, Mr. Eisenhower in the center.

"I'd just as soon do this after lunch," the President said, laughing.

Ex-Convict Sticks to His Story

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UP) — Ex-convict Anthony Barr, charged with the 1946 slaying of a woman, said today he was not a murderer and was not guilty of the crime as he walked extradition to California.

Officers said Barr, 54, admitted he was in California at the time Knie was shot Nov. 21 he originally contended he was in Akron, O.

But he told police interrogators if it fits that lovers lane job it ain't me.

The suspect whose true name is Anthony J. Zilbauer, although he was known in Los Angeles as Barr, also confessed he had been in trouble a lot and served three prison terms in Ohio.

But despite repeated questioning he insisted that all he knew of the slaying was what he read in news papers.

Barr waived extradition yesterday when he was taken before Judge David Fitzgibbon of the criminal court of correction and advised of his rights under extradition laws.

But Detective Chief James Chapman said Los Angeles officers would not come here to pick him up until Saturday or Sunday.

A revolver, fitting the description of the murder weapon, found in Barr's auto will also be taken back with him for ballistics tests. Officers said another revolver, an expensive fur stole and 21 pairs of women's hose were found in the car recovered on a downtown street.

When the Wright brothers made their flights at Kill Devil Hill in 1903, it could be reached only by boat, but a highway now links the area to the mainland.

Want-Ad Slayer Is Questioned

ST. LOUIS, Mo., (AP)—Ex-convict Anthony Barr, held for the Los Angeles "Knee" murder, was questioned today about a report he told his wife he killed a man there about the time of the strange crime.

Los Angeles authorities have issued a warrant charging Barr with murdering insurance Adjuster Andrew Knicker there, Nov. 21, and have prepared extradition papers.

Barr, 34, the object of a nation-wide search, was arrested yesterday when he picked up a letter "planted" by police at the main postoffice.

In his auto was a .38-caliber revolver answering the description of the murder weapon.

Barr had written his wife from St. Louis Saturday. Los Angeles authorities said they discovered a letter at the home of Mrs. Barr's mother. It was addressed to Marlene Clark and signed with a single letter, "T."

Los Angeles officers then sent a letter to "T" and asked St. Louis police to be on the lookout for Barr.

When arrested, Barr said he was in Alton, Ill., at the time of the slaying. Los Angeles police said, however, that his bloody fingerprints were found on Knicker's auto after the shooting.

Mrs. Barr reportedly told Los Angeles authorities last night that Barr had told her he "shot" a man.

She later denied any knowledge of the murder to newsmen.

Mrs. Barr was arrested two days ago and charged with receiving stolen property. A fur coat at her mother's home was identified as stolen from Mrs. Belle Brooks, Turlock, Calif.

Mrs. Brooks identified Barr from pictures as the man who answered her ad for $3,000 of furs for sale, then stole them at gunpoint.

It was a "want ad" sale that resulted in Knicker's death. Knicker, girlfriend, Dolly Ann McCormick, 21, said Knicker had offered her 1933 Mercury convertible for sale in the want ad column.

She said she and Knicker picked up a man in downtown Los Angeles after he had telephoned and asked to see the auto.

The killer, according to Miss McCormick, told Knicker she would be waiting to see the car. Three days later, she said, they drove to Wilton, near Los Angeles.

There, the "buyer" drew a .38-caliber revolver, said "I've been hired to kill you," and fired three shots in Knicker's head, Miss McCormick said.

She said she ran from the scene. Barr's photograph and fingerprint identifications were flown to St. Louis when Los Angeles police learned he had driven there.

Barr told authorities here he had driven from Los Angeles to Alton where he bought a new car with a worthless check from an auto dealer.

He said he then drove back to Los Angeles arriving there last week. He said he met a friend, a former fellow convict in Ohio prison, and the two decided to come here for work.

Barr said they arrived here Monday night and took rooms at separate hotels.

After probing through the area 17 miles southeast of Marlana, all night, Jones and two other men found the body early this morning.

Stanley, a service station operator at Mori, said Mr. and Mrs. Jones were in a state of shock and were unable to talk to reporters.
They have six other children including twins younger than Barbara.

Oil Group Opens Winter Session

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—The Interstate Oil Compact Commission got down to business today in committee meetings opening its regular winter conference.
Coincidentally with the session came observance of the 25th anniversary of the discovery of the oil field which gives this city a skyline of derricks.

Oil men and officials sat in committee discussions of secondary recovery, research and coordinating regulatory practices, public lands and engineering.
Gov. and Mrs. Johnston Murray were hosts last night at a dinner in the executive mansion for visiting governors and their parties, and foreign delegates, including representatives from Venezuela, Mexico, Alaska and Canada.

Some 450 delegates were expected before the close of the two day session.

McCarthy Goes All Out If Attacked

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. McCarthy can be relied on to meet the hair of anyone who tries to take him on in a duck-down-drag-out fight, with verbal or political weapons, he's proved it.

The Eisenhower administration has been in collision with him a number of times, they wanted him more than once, yielded to him upon occasion, but always has handled him gingerly. Up till now, way.

This may have been due to desire for cooperation, genuine liking for him, natural reticence, concern about being muzzled up, or fear of splitting the Republican party which might follow an outright split with McCarthy.

While the Wisconsin Republican says the administration's batting average in a few cases is zero, the administration can claim it's batted a thousand in one department, at least.

That's in never saying anything unpleasant about McCarthy—directly.

Yesterday Secretary of State Dulles provided a good example of this in a statement which, while unmistakably aimed at McCarthy, never mentioned him by name.

The omission was so obvious that when McCarthy read it he grinned and said: "Do you think he could have been referring to me?"

President Eisenhower himself, by saying he never dealt in personalities, has led the way in avoiding a head-on clash by any direct reference which the senator could take to mean the gloves were off and a fight was on.

Yet the technique which Dulles used yesterday puts upon newspapermen who covered his news conference the burden of saying Dulles was talking about McCarthy, although Dulles was unwilling to assume the burden himself.

In his broadcast a week ago, hitting both the Democrats and the Eisenhower administration, McCarthy raised the question of how to force the Chinese Communists to release some hundred prisoners of war still unaccounted for.

He found the answer in a theme he has been hammering at for months. He suggested this country should end aid to any ally which didn't.

"Are we going to continue to send perfumed notes, following the style of the Truman-Acheson regime?" he asked.

In his statement Dulles made it clear he was replying to McCarthy's criticism, for he said: "Since...last week there has been a widely publicized criticism of this administration's foreign policy...that we spoke too kindly to our allies and sent them 'perfumed' notes...The criticism I refer to attacks the very heart of United States foreign policy."

Dulles left no doubt this statement was a deliberate one. He said:

It had the approval of the President. It had been written and mimeographed before he wrote to the news conference. He repeated it for movie and television cameras.

Whatever it is that inhibits Dulles—where McCarthy's name is concerned—the senator isn't bothered by it. He's a lot more direct about Dulles than Dulles is about him.

McCarthy suffered his first big setback at the hands of the administration early this year when he tried to block Eisenhower's appointment of Charles E. Bohlen as ambassador to Russia. Bohlen got Senate approval.

But before that happened McCarthy publicly doubted Dulles' word that Bohlen was a good security risk and wanted the secretary to testify all over again but under oath, a procedure which carries a perjury charge for anyone lying.

Blood Thinning Drug Saving Heart Victims

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE, AP Science Reporter

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Blood-thinning drugs might have saved 600,000 Americans who died of heart attacks in the last 10 years—a life every eight minutes—a physician said today.

The drugs, anticoagulants, help dissolve or prevent blood clots which block the main artery to the heart. Dicoumarol and heparin are main examples.

How they have proved their dramatic lifesaving ability was described today to the American Medical Association by Dr. E. Sterling Nichol of Miami, Fla.

In 10 years, probably eight million Americans have been stricken with these heart attacks, he said.

"If anticoagulants had been used in all cases, the death rate would have been reduced from 24 to 10 per cent which means 640,000 lives might have been saved. Actually, less than one fifth of the cases were treated, but over so at least 100,000 probably have been saved."

The drugs can work if given before, or even after some heart attacks, Dr. Nichol said. The heart attacks often give warning signals, hours or even weeks before the damaging blockade of the heart.

Certain pains are a main warning signal. The drugs must be used carefully, to prevent hemorrhage from too-thin blood, Dr. Nichol cautioned. They and other drugs now are being studied also in thousands of patients as a means of preventing later heart attacks.

In another significant report, Dr. David B. Morgan of Kansas City said certain types of chronic, itchy skin eruptions may often be caused by not eating enough proteins, such as meat, eggs and fish. Bed sores, slow healing of surgical wounds, and some serious skin diseases can often be benefited by eating more protein, he added.

It had the approval of the President. It had been written and mimeographed before he wrote to the news conference. He repeated it for movie and television cameras.

Branch Home
Scene Of UDC Meeting

The Hope chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy met on Thursday afternoon in the home of Mrs. J. W. Branch with Mrs. H. C. Whitworth and Mrs. Guy Haynes as associate hostesses.

For the occasion, the Branch home was decorated attractively with the Christmas motif being used. An iron stone china bowl hold an arrangement of holly with red berries was placed on a table in the living room. Another bowl of holly set on the coffee table. Large logs burned in the fireplace in the music room, the grand piano held an arrangement of pink roses in a silver goblet, and Cocks comb and Christmas bells were placed on the Hammond organ.

Mrs. Whitworth, who is the president of the local chapter, presided over the business meeting. Mrs. J. J. Battle of Fulton led in the salute to the three flags, the U. S. flag, the Confederate flag, and the Arkansas flag.

A memorial to Mrs. Rosa Shipley Crews was written by Mrs. H. J. F. Garrett, and was read by Mrs. J. W. Strickland.

Mrs. A. E. Slusser, delegate to the national convention held in Washington D. C., just recently, gave some high lights of the convention including a report about their being entertained at the White House. The President of the United States addressed them, and Mrs. Eisenhower entertained about two hundred of the delegates.

Mrs. R. E. Jackson gave a Christmas story entitled "Bells of Christmas" by Charles Tudwell. Mrs. Wilbur Jones presented several piano selections including Bohn's "Mumming Spring" and the beautiful Christmas Carol, "Silent Night."

It was announced, that the state UDC officers would be entertaining at the Smorgasbord in Hot Springs on December 12. All UDC members are urged to attend this meeting. Mrs. Slusser is state president.

Following the meeting, the hostesses served a salad plate to those attending.

Sunday School Lesson
By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D.D.
When one looks back upon the history of governments, and even looks out upon governments in various parts of the world today, it becomes obvious that in countries like the United States and Canada there is no conflict between Christian rights and duties and the rights and duties of citizenship.

Here, the better Christian a man is, the better citizen he will be. Christianity and democracy have so much in common as to be in many respects almost identical in their demands of idealism and duty.

But in some other lands today it is not possible to be a lawful and peaceable Christian without the persecution and the duties of persecution and even death.

One could hardly have believed that persecutions such as the early Christians endured in the worst days of the Roman Empire would have broken out, again against Christians in this world of the twentieth century.

We who live in lands in which democratic liberties and rights prevail should set a profound value upon our heritage. Yet one cannot observe the whole area of life in such democratic lands without realizing that vast numbers of people, for whom such rights and liberties are available either set little value upon them or prevent that heritage of freedom by lives of utter selfish and unsocial conduct, or by downright criminality.

We are far from having built a

Presbyterian Women of the Church Have Study

The women of the Presbyterian Church met on Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Thomas C. McRae for a panel discussion of the study book, "My Church" by Dr. and Mrs. Kerr Taylor.

Mrs. S. O. Logan, discussion leader, presided and opened the meeting with a devotional talk based on Psalm 122 and led in prayer.

Mrs. Logan gave an interesting account of the founding and early history of the local church stating that on October 12, 1879, nine people met together for the purpose of organizing a Presbyterian Church in Prescott. Services were held in the Episcopal Church with Rev. Samuel E. Orr, grandfather of Mr. Logan as the first pastor. In 1887, Mr. T. C. McRae gave a lot for a church, where the McKenzie building now stands, which was built and later destroyed by fire. The church was rebuilt at the present site.

An informal panel discussion on the connection between the church and the home was given by Mrs. T. C. McRae, Mrs. W. C. Bonbrugh, Mrs. C. W. Dewey, Mrs. D. L. McRae Jr., Mrs. T. M. Bonik Mrs. J. L. McRae Sr., and Mrs. T. E. Logan with Mrs. Logan closing with appropriate remarks and a poem on "My Church."

At the close of the meeting the members were invited into the dining room where they were served cake by Mrs. McRae and Mrs. Logan and coffee by Mrs. D. L. McRae Jr. from the table overlaid with a lace cloth and centered with a crystal centerpiece filled with red roses and ferns.

There were twenty one present.

Christmas Glow Finally Goes Out
CHANDLER, Okla. (U) — Policeman Hack Albritton noticed a driver building up traffic at a downtown intersection and walked over to see why.

Albritton arrested him for drunk driving.

naturally I get a free hand in picking my staff — and top billing, of course.

"I even got a few hundred jokes ready. No, I won't give you any samples. I don't want to tip my mitt."

Like most professional comedians today, Youngman, Brooklyn's gift to the world of japey, feels the nation has let a lot of moss cover its funnybone in recent years.

"People are hungry for a chance to laugh," he said, "but now they feel they have to have a reason. That's why practical jokes are coming back. People got so they resented them. Now they enjoy a practical joke again — as long as it is really funny, and not cruel."

Are practical jokes ever anything but cruel.

"Why, sure," said Henry. "If you want to clobber a guy, really mix him up, you just send him a telegram saying, 'Ignore first vice.'"

"Or, take another example. Suppose you go through a toll bridge. Well, you pay for the guy in the car behind you. He'll drive 30 miles trying to find out who you are and why you paid for him."

Henry said that in his vaudeville days a prank was to sneak into another performer's room, fill his bathtub with hot water and pour in several packages of Jello.

It's take him days to get all that Jello out of the tub," recalled Henry, and added reflectively, "if things were tough, he might even decide to eat it."

Henry's other favorite gag was to have a friend at a nearby restaurant table summoned to the phone and then put by his plate a printed card saying, "The management requests that you please leave quietly."

Well, fellow voters, it's up to you. If you want a paid practical joker in government, just wire your congressman. But will he want any professional competition?

Desha Slaying Still a Mystery
ARKANSAS CITY, Mo.— Puzzled officers said today they had failed to dig up any new leads in the mysteriously slain slaying of a resplendent Desha County merchant.

Deputy Sheriff E. L. Driedel said this morning that two men still were being held for questioning in the death of 62-year-old Jack Israel.

Driedel declined to identify the two men and emphasized that no charges have been filed against them.

Israel's body was found lying beside a back country road near Watson Monday night by a curious motorist who stopped to investigate a truck parked in the road.

The victim's throat had been cut. Sheriff Robert Moore said yesterday that officers have been unable to establish a motive for the killing.

Navy Cracks Down on Atom Matters

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON (U) — The Navy is ordering its personnel not even to repeat previous public statements on atomic matters unless they are "checked in advance" with the Atomic Energy Commission.

It is circulating an amended interpretation of the broadly worded request by the White House recently that atomic energy comments by government officials be checked first with the AEC. The Navy order forbids even the issuance of a denial of a published report unless prior approval is obtained.

The Navy circular states that all statements must be channeled through the assistant secretary of defense for legislative and public information affairs, Fred Seaton, for clearance with the "appropriate" agency of government (the AEC), and then specifies:

"This applies to the entire field of information with regard to nuclear weapons including capabilities, characteristics, numbers, employment, distribution and storage."

"It applies to discussion, confirmation, elaboration, confirmation or refutation of statements in this field which have already been made public as well as statements containing material not hitherto published."

The Navy was the first of the armed forces to come up with its own interpretation of the atomic information order.

A wise man looks both ways, B C and A D. He looks B C for wisdom and guidance but A D for character and usefulness. History is B C but Faith is A D. Any man should reach higher than his father because he stands on his father's shoulders. Performance, not pedigree, is the passport to posterity's appreciation. A Bible-reading, church-going society is the fruit of God-fearing ancestry. Don't miss a service.
